

Probing Hidden Sectors at the LHC

Thursday, 31 May 2018 15:20 (20 minutes)

I discuss examples of how the LHC can be sensitive to low-mass hidden sectors. In particular, I show how rare Z -boson decays provide a window into the mass-generation mechanism of dark-photon models, motivating searches for displaced vertices and high multiplicities of soft leptons.

E-mail

bshuve@g.hmc.edu

Primary author: SHUVE, Brian (Harvey Mudd College)

Presenter: SHUVE, Brian (Harvey Mudd College)

Session Classification: Physics at High Energies

Track Classification: PHE